

COMPASSIONATE SUPPORT

FOR THE GRIEVING FAMILY

When someone we love dies, it affects our entire family. Unfortunately, grieving children are often "invisible mourners." This happens because a parent has a difficult enough time navigating their own grief journey let alone helping their child through grief. We want to help with that.

Our Circles of Hope program provides a family-centered approach to grief support by investing in children, supporting parents, and strengthening the family. The program is adapted for all ages and stages of growth designed to help the family learn about and cope with the intense emotions, physical reactions and effects of the loss as they journey together on the path towards hope, healing, and new beginnings.
